DEMPSEY TO MEET EUROPE'S CHAMP

BATTLE TO BE STAGED IN LOW-
ER CALIFORNIA AND PROM-ISES TO BE ONE OF THE BEST YET SEEN.

By the Associated Press
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 5.—Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, was busy with his motion pictures today, and referred to his manager all inquiries about his prospective match with Georges Carpentier of France, Europe's champion, which Carpentier announced last night would be forty-five rounds long and would be staged at Tijuana, Lower California, under the auspices of James Coffroth, if the French champion would agree. Carpentier announced the division of the purse, $300,000 to the winner and $100,000 to the loser, as thoroughly satisfactory to him, and said that Coffroth has an agent in Europe attempting to induce Carpentier to sign a contract to meet him at Tijuana.

Kerns said he thought such a match would reach $750,000. Dempsey has been in light training for several weeks. He announced sometime ago that he would endeavor to keep in such condition all the time, and then two weeks of real training would fit him for a real fight.

Cham. Commerce Carnival to Be a Real Show

J. M. Coleman of the Ada Motor Co., and chairman of the arrangement committee for the Chamber of Commerce Carnival to be staged at the city hall all next week, tells us that the affair is to be a real honest-to-goodness show.

Mr. Coleman states that the various kinds of talent in the city are responding without the least hesitation to his requests for help and that there will be staged throughout the week some of the best entertainments ever put on by local talent in these parts.

The big six show opening each evening about 7:30 and lasting until late bedtime, is being put on under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce with the idea of securing a neat little fund for operating expenses this year without having to make a "drive" among the business men for that purpose.

This being true it is the belief of those who have the work in hand that everybody in the city will cooperate with the committee and not only patronize the show liberally, but at the same time lend their support in helping to organize and perfect a program that will be worth the money to every person who attends.

It is said that many side-splitting stunts are to be staged, to say nothing of an expert orchestra, quartette and other means of entertainment that will be in evidence for the purpose of entertaining the crowd between acts. The committee is trying to so fix the program that there won't be a single dull moment from the time the doors open until they close.

The program and further details of what is in store for the public during carnival week will appear in the News from day to day.

Harry Scheinberg Leaves.

Harry Scheinberg has severed his connection with the Model and will leave tonight to take up his duties as sales manager of the Western Electric Company with headquarters in Chicago. He will be in Chicago for perhaps a year. Mr. Scheinberg leaves for Parsons, Kans., tonight, where he will meet some of his old fraternity brothers, and from there will go to Kansas City, and then to St. Louis, his old home, where he will visit more fraternal brothers as well as old friends for a few days, after which he will go to Chicago.

Harry says he regrets very much to leave all his friends in Ada, and his home which he has made in the city for the past year, since being discharged as a lieutenant in the army. He also regrets that he will not have the chance of coaching the high school track team this season, with which he did so much last spring. He also regrets to tender his resignation as head of the information bureau of the local post of the American Legion, for he was the writer of several articles which appeared in the News. While his many friends regret his leaving they wish him the best of success in his new field of labor.

WEATHER FORECAST

Rain tonight and warmer except in northwest portion. Tuesday fair in western portion, rain in eastern portion and colder in northwestern portion.

CONGRESS TO WORK AFTER A VACATION

REASSEMBLES AFTER 2-WEEKS'
HOLIDAY VACATION TO FIND
MANY WEIGHTY PRO-BLEMS BEFORE IT.

By the Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Congress, returning to work today after a two weeks' holiday, faces one of the busiest sessions in history and a staggering array of problems awaiting solution.

In addition to domestic matters, some of which will have far reaching effect on the industrial life of the country, there are international questions of importance that must be settled, including the treaty of peace with Germany and Austria.

Adjournment was not expected before Fall and the only break in the long session that one can look forward to is the brief recess that will be taken coincident with the national party conventions during the summer.

Important domestic legislation awaiting action included the railroad reorganization bill, the oil, coal, gas and phosphate land leasing bill, both of whom are now in conference; army reorganization; shipping legislation, control of undesirable aliens and scores of other subjects. Many investigations also have been arranged for by both the senate and the house. Among them will be the Mexican situation, the coal situation and the Ford-Newberry election.

The house before taking up various appropriation measures is expected to vote on the question of seating Victor Berger, Milwaukee socialist, who was ousted last session but re-elected at a special election held recently. Leaders predicted a prompt rejection of Berger's re-election certificate.

OUT OF ARCTIC A FOOT AND WITH ONLY DOG TEAM

By the Associated Press
SEATTLE, Jan. 4.—On his way out of the Arctic, Harold Noice, American explorer, is making his way, on foot, with a dog team, overland from Victoria Land, which lies in the Arctic Ocean, southeast to Port Nelson, in the Hudson's Bay country of Canada, according to letters received here by his mother from him. Noice is following, for a considerable distance, the route of the northwest passage.

Maps and charts of portions of Victoria Land were made this summer by Noice, he said. He did not state whether or not he ventured into the interior of Victoria Land, which, according to other explorers who have come south, has never been visited by men from the outside world.

Noice has been in the Arctic since 1915. He joined the expedition headed by Vilhjalmur Stefansson but when Stefansson turned south Noice remained in the north. He expects to arrive here some time next summer.

ACCIDENT RESULTS IN THE DEATH OF A BOY

Notice to Ada Enumerators.

On account of the plan of division of the change in the plan of enumeration in the city of Ada, the actual enumeration cannot begin until more definite instructions are received from Washington. I have wired for authority to make some changes which are necessary, as the outline furnished me is incomplete and not definite enough for the enumerator to fully understand his territory. I hope by the coming Monday to have this straightened out and all enumerators at work. However, it may be a day or two later. Any assistance legally and conscientiously tendered to the enumerator in obtaining a full enumeration for your city will be highly appreciated by me. Of course you understand that all these changes must come from Washington as I have no authority to change any district without first securing the department's consent. Ada has shown so that the old program, as outlined, is insufficient. We are doing our best.

BIG EARTHQUAKE SHAKES MEXICO

TEN STATES SHAKEN, TWO VIL-LAGES DESTROYED AND MANY KILLED IN THE
VOLCANIC SHOCK.

By the Associated Press
MEXICO CITY, Mex., Jan. 5.—Ten states were shaken by the earthquake which on Saturday night destroyed two villages and caused many deaths in the state of Vera Cruz. These ten states stretch from the Isthmus of Tehuantepec in a northwesterly direction, a distance of nearly five hundred miles and from the gulf of Mexico to the Pacific.

Reports received up to 11 o'clock last night indicated that the center of the convulsion was in the neighborhood of Mount Orizaba, a volcano situated about seventy miles west of the states of Vera Cruz and Puebla. It was in this neighborhood that the most serious damage was done. Teocelo, a village thirty five miles northeast of the volcano, has been virtually destroyed and a similar fate befell Cosatlan, a small hamlet in that neighborhood. Wires have been torn down and only fragmentary reports have reached this city, but it is stated that there are many casualties in both towns. Reports from Orizaba, a city 10 miles south of the volcano, stated that several business blocks and churches near the center of the town were wrecked. In the suburb of this city the shock was very severe, many persons being reported killed.

Fifteen distinct shocks were experienced at Cordoba, a city ten miles east of Orizaba.

While telegrams last night from the state of Vera Cruz where the earthquake was so severe, reported scores killed. None of the casualties were reported.

MISSIONARIES OUT FOR REFORM AMONG THE JAPS

By the Associated Press
TOKIO, Dec. 4.—The Christian missionaries of Japan, through Dr. Arthur Berry, of the American Methodist Episcopal Mission, have pledged their support to a program of administrative reforms in Korea. These plans were announced by Dr. Mizuno, Director of Civil Affairs in the new government-general of Korea, at a meeting of 200 missionaries and other foreigners held in the Imperial Hotel, the other day.

The missionaries also promised to furnish criticism whenever it was believed to be necessary. This criticism, Dr. Berry explained, is to be friendly, constructive, optimistic and intended to help. Baron Sakatani, who presided, said the new watershed in Korea today is "justice and sympathy" in which he said the missionaries could render aid.

Dr. Mizuno told the missionaries what he hoped to accomplish in Korea in providing equal treatment for Koreans and Japanese and in educational and prison reforms. He announced that the punishment of Koreans by flogging would be abolished. He said it was an old Korean custom but that Japan recognized it was at variance with modern ideas.

THE EFFICIENCY OF ADVERTISING

Any trade method that merchants have found helpful over a long period of years, is pretty apt to be based on sound economic law. Therefore the people who claim that advertising adds to the cost of goods have got to explain away the fact that for generations the most enterprising business men have consistently used advertising.

The writer was recently looking over the files of a newspaper that had been published a full century, that is, before the Civil War, that paper was publishing a lot of advertising. Almost any of the old papers would make a similar showing.

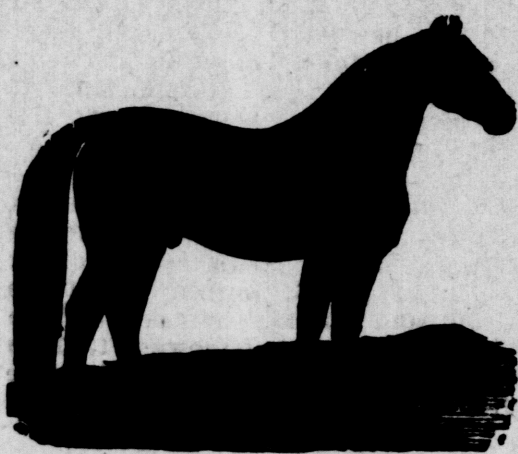

The people that feel that advertising is valueless are at taking one of the foundation principles of business success. It will be interesting in this little series of discussions, to consider what trade conditions would be in a non-advertising community, and how the production of advertising spirit affects sales, prices and service.

What Will Be Done With Whiskey Now In Storage Houses?

By the Associated Press
 LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 16.—Kentucky distillers still held several million gallons of liquor today, the last day before constitutional prohibition was initiated, notwithstanding attempts to export it. Last unofficial figures were that 35,000,000 gallons valued at approximately $400,000,000, remains in bonded warehouses. Its fate was in some doubt. Unless confiscated by the government, it was said, much of it probably will be sold for medicinal purposes.

Whiskey interests of this state waited until early December in the belief that the President, the Supreme Court or congress would lift the wartime prohibition ban. When the Supreme Court held the law constitutional and neither the President or congress raised the ban, they prepared for shipment of their stocks to foreign countries but were said to have been only nominally successful.

About that time some Kentucky interests announced, following a similar announcement in Chicago, that they would institute a suit in the court of claims, Washington, late this month or early February in an effort to secure reimbursement from the government for the whiskey that remained in this country after today.

One almost immediate result of the permanent ban clamped down today may be the closing for good of the 300 Louisville saloons that survived the wartime law by conversion into soft-drink dispensaries. A number of the proprietors declared that they cannot operate under present profits and therefore expect to begin new businesses.

Meantime, the real work of prohibition enforcement officers began today. They were said to be ready to suppress all violations of the law in this state.

Wife Alleges That Husband Is Abusive to Her

Mrs. Luzzell Long filed suit for divorce in district court yesterday by her attorney, Lowry H. Harrell. Plaintiff alleges that she was married to defendant, Ira S. Long, at Francis, September 15, 1916. That from the time of their marriage defendant was guilty of extreme cruelty to plaintiff, cursing and abusing her, and applying to her vile and opprobrious epithets. He also falsely and unjustly accused her of being unfaithful and immoral. She alleges that defendant was guilty of periodical intoxication and when drunk would abuse and threaten defendant.

Wherefore plaintiff prays for divorce and $50.00 attorney's fees, and such other relief as she is entitled to.

LAMBASTS SENATE AS "FIFTH WHEEL"

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Demanding recognition just before adjournment of the senate tonight, Senator Williams, democrat of Mississippi, launched a bitter attack upon that body for failure to give what he described as proper consideration to the pending water power bill.

A motion to adjourn had been withdrawn temporarily for presentation of two minor bills and members were piling out in some confusion when the strident voice of the Mississippi senator brought them to a halt. Eleven senators remained—six on the democratic and five on the republican side of the chamber.

Senator Williams declared the upper branch of congress was paying no attention whatever to the people's business.

"The people of this country are gradually rising to the point where they demand abolition of the senate for failure to function," Senator Williams shouted. "Here is a great bill, and no one is paying any attention to it. I am inclined to agree with Benjamin Franklin who declared the senate of the United States was like the fifth wheel of a wagon."

Again surveying the almost empty chamber, Senator Williams said: "Mr. President, I am almost tempted to demand a quorum, only it would be too un-club like." With that Senator Williams sat down and Senator Smith of Georgia on his way out, hat and overcoat in hand, ended the proceedings by calling attention to the fact that the motion to adjourn was pending.

INSTITUTIONS OF STATE IMPROVED

PROGRESS OF YEAR DESCRIBED IN REPORT BY BOARD OF AFFAIRS JUST SUBMITTED

By News Special Service

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 14.—Beginning with deficiency claims amounting to $750,000, report issued by the present state board of affairs covering the work of the past year, and the first under the new administration, shows a summary of the accomplishments of the board in its dealings with the several state institutions. The report is compiled by U. S. Russell, chief clerk to the board.

Expenditure of the $200,000 appropriated by the last legislature to acquire more ground surrounding the capitol is held up pending litigation to condemn the land, it is explained.

The recent coal strike is briefly referred to in that state convicts under the supervision of the board were employed in mining coal that greatly relieved the situation. The university hospital was completed and occupied during the year and is making a success. Beginning of the last year with a revolving fund of $54,000 at the state penitentiary, this fund has been increased to $102,000. Various factories and farms in connection with the prison have shown material increase in output. Two and one-half million pounds of binder twine was manufactured during the past year and sold to farmers at 20 cents a pound. It is proposed to add 64 spindles to the twine factory and this will afford an increased output.

Granite Industry Pays
 Revolving fund of $25,000 has resulted from the sale of crushed stone and sand at the state reformatory at Granite. East wing of the cell house, in an uncompleted condition for several years, has been finished and the warden's residence, burned in 1917, has been rebuilt. The boys' training school at Pauls Valley has shown greater progress. Laundry building was recently built there of salvaged materials.

New ward building was constructed at the eastern state hospital for insane at Vinita and 250 acres of new land acquired. Several new buildings are now in course of construction at the central hospital for insane at Norman. The tubercular hospital has been completed at Supply, and a successful year was experienced with the large farm that is in operation in connection with the institution. A new home for the school has been added to the school for the blind at Muskogee. Gymnasium building costing $50,000 is under course of construction at the Northwestern normal at Alva. Plans for a president's residence at the Northeastern normal at Tahlequah has been adopted. Cafeteria has been to the South-eastern normal at Durant, and a school building is nearing completion at the East Central normal at Ada for which the legislature appropriated $100,000. Pavilion for summer school has been erected at the Central normal at Edmond and repairs have been made to the buildings and grounds.

New power house has been erected at the orphan's home at Pryor. The legislature also made an appropriation for added school equipment, but owing to high prices this has not yet been supplied. A portion of the crops of the institute for feeble minded at Enid have been sold and brought more than $18,000 to say nothing of the 4,000 bushels of wheat yet on hand. New laundry machinery hall and overhauling of the heating plant are some of the things done at the colored A. and M. college at Langston. The dairy herd at the institution has also been greatly improved.

Rebuilding Wilkins Hall
 Wilkins hall at Tonkawa, destroyed several years ago by fire, is being rebuilt at a cost of $90,000. A large tract of land has been secured for the school for colored deaf, blind orphans at Taft, and power plant and equipment completed at a cost of $22,000. Dormitory costing $140,000 and president's home for $7,500 are being completed at the Oklahoma College for Women at Chickasha. Dormitory for women at a cost of $100,000 at the state university at Norman, is yet to be contracted for. Several new buildings were completed there during the past year. State industrial school for girls has been re-located at Tecumseh in Pottawatomie county, for which $118,000 was appropriated for buildings. Repairs to Confederate soldiers' home at Ardmore, costing $14,000, are being made, and various repairs and improvements made to the Union soldiers' home near this city.

The School of Mines at Wilburton was re-opened through legislative act. Appropriation of $5,000 was found to be inadequate to give needed equipment incident to the opening of the school, but instruction was begun and is now being carried on.

The plane cut across Lake Michigan and raced towards Indiana.

CATHOLICS BACK GENERAL WOOD?

REPORTS FROM CERTAIN QUARTERS INDICATE THAT RELIGIOUS ISSUE CAUSED HAMON REBUFF

By News Special Service

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 14.—That Jake L. Hamon—within the next 24 hours—will issue a statement supporting his campaign for national committeeman on either an uninstructed or Lowden platform, was the opinion expressed Tuesday by apparently well informed Republicans.

It was stated that Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, in telephone communication with Hamon a week ago, requested him to drop his campaign in favor of McGraw. This it is claimed, Hamon refused to do.

McGraw's appointment as vice-chairman of Wood's national campaign committee was characterized Tuesday as a result of propaganda in which Wood was advised the election of Hamon would precipitate a religious split in the party.

Whatever may have been the cause, Wood is said to have communicated here with Hamon on the Sunday afternoon following McGraw's appointment.

About Conversation.
 "I ask you to withdraw from the good of the party," Wood is said to have told Hamon from the former's headquarters in Chicago.

Republicans who have been backing Hamon on presumably a Wood platform, say McGraw's appointment carries significance deeper than which appears on the surface, and that it dates back prior to the resignation of McGraw's predecessor, John King, on the national Wood committee.

Wood, it is claimed, has been harassed by the sword of Damocles in the form of a threatened split in the Republican party based on religious differences. In his talk with Hamon he is said to have advanced this reason in asking Hamon to quit.

It is explained by Hamon men that nearly half of the Wood campaign committee are Catholics. It was this power, they say, that placed McGraw next to the committee's executive officer and which led to Hamon's rebuff.

At the time of his appointment McGraw issued a statement in which he said Wood was displeased with the management of his campaign in Oklahoma. Hamon men say Wood intimated nothing of that nature to Hamon on the fateful afternoon of Jan. 4.

Just what course Hamon will take is even puzzling headquarters.

Won't Withdraw, Belief.
 "We have made no statement because we are ignorant of Jake's plans," one of his men said. "However we are confident he will not withdraw from the race."

In view of Wood's request this last statement is interpreted as a possible shift by Hamon from Wood. Hamon headquarters was thronged with his partisans Tuesday morning, as it was expected he would arrive with a statement outlining his future policy.

Prediction was made that he would shift from Wood and make his campaign on either an uninstructed or a Lowden platform.

Hamon's connection with Wood is said to have been accompanied by large contributions to Wood's campaign fund. Whether this is true and what the sum was could not be learned.

Hamon men are far from being downcast. They say McGraw has scuttled his own political craft in his eleventh hour leap to the Wood caravan. His change of "climate" is predicted will mean the elimination of 20 Oklahoma votes from Wood's total, with a strong possibility of finding a welcome home in the Lowden camp.

Lowden Men Encouraged
 Reports from the Lowden stronghold in the Second district show jubilation over the Wood-McGraw-Hamon triangle. It is said many of Wood's most ardent followers will be there to help carry the Illinoisan's standard.

In referring to McGraw's "coup" one state political writer says: "General Wood has acted in haste and may repent at leisure," for, he continues, the Republican politicians of Oklahoma are "right shift" on their feet.

On the other hand, if McGraw is worried over the future of his political career, there is little to indicate it in his attitude. In a statement Tuesday he said he had just returned from Tulsa where he said he was accorded a warm reception. He conceded the loss of the Fourth district, but said he would carry the remaining districts by a decisive margin.

Hamon has been in New York on a mission purely of a business nature, it is understood.

Demented Man in Jail
 A. E. Whitson was brought to Ada last night by officers from Stonewall. He was apprehended at the depot at Stonewall, and is said to be somewhat demented in his mind and in very poor health. He was able to give his name, but did not seem to know very much of anything else. He was kept in the county jail last night and an effort was being made this morning by the officers to find some of his people.

One explanation of the Harrell vote is that he didn't like Washington.

WRECKS MANY VESSELS WHICH UNDER PEACE AGREEMENT SHE WAS TO TURN OVER TO THE ALLIES

By News Special Service

GENEVA, Switz., Friday, Jan. 16.—Austrian war vessels which, under the terms of the peace treaty must be handed over to the allies have undergone a second "Scapa Flow" but on a smaller scale, according to a telegram received here from Turin via Lugano.

The dispatch states that the allied naval commission which arrived recently at Sattaro confirms the first reports that the Austrian fleet has been seriously disabled.

The Austrians were said to have destroyed or removed the principal parts of the machinery of the ships, rendering them incapable of navigation. Only the hulls remaining in good condition. Repairs, it is said will require several months before the vessels can be made ready for the sea. The fleet includes one battleship, three large cruisers, four torpedo cruisers, twelve torpedo boats and some smaller boats.

The Austrians are declared to have acknowledged the damage, but to have blamed the Jugo-Slavs.

NEW YORK ACTION IS REPUDIATED

NATIONAL COMMITTEE CONDEMNS ACTION OF ASSEMBLY IN UNSEATING FOUR SOCIALIST MEMBERS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Chairman Homer Cummings of the democratic national committee, has authorized the following statement commenting upon the action of the New York legislature in excluding five socialists who had been elected members:

"The action of the general assembly of New York in disbaring regularly elected members of the general assembly was an outrage upon popular government and cannot be excused upon any theory of justice and Americanism. The wrong done should be righted as speedily as possible."

No political development of the past several months has given the democratic leaders such encouragement as they have derived from the action of the majority in the New York assembly in voting to oust the socialists.

Their elation is only slightly affected by the fact that a large number of the democratic members of the assembly voted with the republicans. The New York democrats who supported the motion to exclude the socialists, leaders here say, were misguided and will set themselves right. But whether they do or not, it is said the responsibility for the exclusion must rest with the republican majority. Furthermore, it is pointed out, the democratic attitude on the question of permitting the people to have representatives of their own choosing was determined by the action of the democratic congress in permitting Meyer London, the socialist congressman from New York City, to sit in congress during the war.

Democratic leaders are drawing a contrast between the action of the New York legislature in ousting five socialist members and the action of the French chamber of deputies several days ago in seating sixty-two socialists. Even Germany under the rule of the kaiser, they say, recognized the right of the socialist party to representation in the reichstag. They do not believe the masses of the people in the United States wish to be more illiberal politically than Germany was under the kaiser and Germany is now, and has always been since republican rule was established in that country.

Berger Case Different. There is no true parallel, it is said, between the case of Victor Berger, the Wisconsin congressman ousted by congress, and the cases of the New York socialists. Berger was ousted on the ground that he gave aid and comfort to the enemy of the United States while the war was in progress, not because he advocated a socialistic form of government for the United States.

The reds who were deported by order of Attorney General Palmer and the commissioner of immigration, likewise were not sent out of the country because they advocated a different social order than that which now prevails in this country, but because the tenets of the communist party to which they had sworn allegiance do not contemplate political revolution through education and the ballot, but by direct action regardless of the political viewpoint of the majority.

Convention Call Issued. The democratic leaders are saying that the action of the New York assembly demonstrates the reactionary trend there now is in the republican camp. They expect to hold up this action as indicative of the intolerant attitude the republican party would assume if restored to power in the nation.

The democratic national committee today issued the call for the San Francisco convention. It was announced that there would be 1,082 delegates in the convention and an equal number of alternates. It was also announced that for the first time in the history of the major political parties women will have a hand in the preliminary arrangements for a presidential convention. Mrs. George Bass of Chicago and Miss Mary E. Fay of Los Angeles are the two women named, along with fifteen male members of the national committee to select the temporary chairman and make up the temporary roll of the convention.

CADÉ IS IN DOUBT AS TO MCGRAW'S INTENT

SHAWNEE, Jan. 15.—(Special)—C. M. Cade, former republican national committeeman for Oklahoma, gave out the following statement tonight regarding the McGraw-Hamilton controversy:

"I see by the press that J. J. McGraw has been converted to the Wood boom. If he comes to us honestly in favor of Gen. Leonard Wood for president and not for the purpose of being elected national committeeman, we welcome him. But if he comes for the purpose of getting the benefit of the 'Wood for President' boom that has been started and is being carried on by Harris, Hamon and their friends, and is not honestly for Wood, he had better hang a milestone around his neck and jump into the high seas where the tide ebbs and flows every twenty-four hours."

It takes all kinds of people to make up a world. There are those who maintain a country like Milwaukee should be represented in the United States congress.

Miles Grigsby Quits the News For Insurance

Miles C. Grigsby, who has been connected with the Ada News so long that the memory of man runneth not to the contrary, has offered his resignation, effective Saturday, January 17, and will embark on a career of life insurance.

Mr. Grigsby leaves the newspaper and job printing business with the best of feeling and the good wishes of every one he has been associated with. He, too, has many regrets in severing his connection with this line of work, but the time has come when it is necessary for him to make more money, and he realizes that he must get in other lines in order to do it. That he will find financial success as well as pleasure in his new work no one who knows him will for a minute doubt.

Mr. Grigsby came to Ada in 1907, and he and Byron Norrel bought the old Weekly Democrat. By eating cheese and crackers, setting type day and night and otherwise working hard and saving frugally, these two Texans were able to turn a dead newspaper and job office into a money making business.

Then the old Weekly Democrat and the News publications were merged in 1910. Mr. Grigsby became foreman of the composing room. When there was a vacancy in the office of business manager, there was only one man to fill that and it was Grigsby. In that position he made his greatest success, establishing the business as one of the best in the Southwest and giving it almost unlimited credit with all wholesale houses in the country.

Mr. Grigsby is saddened to leave a business to which he has devoted his entire past life. When a more tot, he worked for twelve months in a small shop in Texas for nothing, in order that he might learn something of the game. From nothing a month he began to climb and has handled every job in the mechanical department. It means the severing of lifetime ties for him to quit the game, but the stern realities of life demand sacrifices, and it sometimes takes a brave man to meet them.

Mr. Grigsby will be associated with Lee Huber as agent for the Massachusetts mutual life insurance company, which he styles the best in the world. It has features, he says, which are superior to those of almost any other company. Believing in his company as he does and also believing that every man of any consequence who dies without leaving some insurance money for his wife and children has committed a moral wrong, he has every chance to succeed.

Use celery for any form of rheumatism or dyspepsia. Lettuce for insomnia. Watercress for scurvy. Onions are the best nerve tonic known. Spinach for gravel. Asparagus to induce perspiration. Carrots for suffering from asthma. Turnips for nervous disorders and for scurvy. Raw beets for frail constitutions and for consumptives. Chop fine, season with salt, and heat by placing the dish in hot water. Cranberries for erysipelas. Use externally as well as internally. Cranberries, raw, are good appetizers. Carry a supply and eat frequently during the day. Use cranberries for biliousness. Fresh ripe fruit to purify the blood and tone up the system. Sour oranges for rheumatism. Watermelon for epilepsy and well-low fever. Blackberries for diarrhoea. Tomatoes are a powerful aperient for the liver, for dyspepsia and indigestion. Bananas for chronic diarrhoea.

YOU NEED NOT SUFFER FROM CATARRH

But You Must Drive It Out of Your Blood.

Catarrh is annoying enough when it cures up your nostrils and air passages, causing difficult breathing and other discomforts. Real danger comes when it reaches down into your lungs.

This is why you should at once realize the importance of the proper treatment, and lose no time experimenting with worthless remedies which touch only the surface. To be rid of Catarrh, you must drive the disease germs out of your blood.

Splendid results have been reported from the use of S. S. S., which acts on the catarrh germs in the blood.

NAMING OF MCGRAW A JOKE HAMMON SAYS

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 14.—Branding J. J. McGraw's appointment as vice president of the Woodford campaign as a joke, Jake Hamon, opponent of McGraw for the republican national committeeman, whose whereabouts have been a deep mystery since the McGraw appointment last night made the prediction he will carry every district in the state and will control two-thirds of the delegates to the state convention.

Hamon arrived in the city yesterday from New York City, where he went with Frank Kell of Wichita Falls, Texas, a week ago last Sunday. He said he has not been at Cincinnati or Chicago, which may be considered "strategic" points because Cincinnati is the home of Proctor, the soap king leader of the Wood movement, and Chicago is the place where McGraw received his appointment as vice president of the Wood movement.

Doubtful of Appointment. Expressing doubt as to whether McGraw had really been appointed vice president, Hamon characterized the whole business as a "joke" like the rest of McGraw's campaign. "Will you continue to support General Wood?" Hamon was asked. "I am running for republican national committeeman," he answered.

"Well, will you continue to be active in Wood's behalf?" "I am running for republican national committeeman," was again the answer.

Glad of McGraw Move. "McGraw is a drowning man grasping at straws—but I am glad to see him supporting Wood. I have been trying to get him to do that," Hamon said.

The Ardmore millionaire said he was at New York when McGraw was appointed in Chicago. He presented "evidence" in the form of telegrams and a Waldorf hotel bill of no mean size, to prove he had been at New York since Wednesday of last week.

He said he will devote most of his time to politics from "here on in," but will give considerable time to his business. He denied he has been trying to stay under cover and laughed at the mystery talk surrounding his trip to New York which he said was a "strictly business trip."

PONTOTOC COUNTY SCHOOL ACTIVITIES

Steedman school opened December 23 with a fair attendance which has been steadily increasing until at this time. The beginning of the third week we have seventy-two pupils enrolled and more coming every day.

We should like to impress upon parents the necessity of entering at once, all children between the ages of eight and eighteen years, in order that the compulsory law which requires sixty-six and two-thirds per cent of the term, may be complied with.

The poultry show scheduled for January 12 failed to materialize on account of bad weather and is now indefinitely postponed until a more favorable time.

Lee and Grace Barnes of the eighth grade, were called to Ada Friday to attend the funeral of their nephew.

Miss Standridge of the primary department transacted business in Ada Friday and Saturday.

Brook Haven school is progressing very nicely and the attendance is very good considering the weather of the past week.

Owing to the bad weather last Tuesday the poultry show was postponed till the following Monday. But the pupils who brought fowls Tuesday were not altogether disappointed, for five dollars was given away as prizes by the teacher.

The pupils have about completed the sale of lead pencils for which the school is to receive a beautiful framed picture. The pupils have worked faithfully in this work and the one who sells the most will receive a fountain pen as their reward.

On Friday night there was a pie supper at the school house. The proceeds will be used to buy library books. Also on the same night a literary society was organized.

Mr. Tom W. Smith, one of the state rural school supervisors, accompanied by the county superintendent visited Colbert school Monday to inspect the course being given in Vitalized Agriculture.

Lovely school will be represented in the county contests this spring. Work has already been started along this line.

Some repairs have been made on the school building this month, but we still need drinking fountains and playground equipment. The school plans to have a box supper in the near future for the purpose of getting these things and to help standardize our school.

The first game of basket ball to be played upon the Stonewall court was played Friday afternoon between Stonewall and Centrahoma. The score was 19 to 13 in favor of Stonewall. This is the second victory Stonewall has won from Centrahoma this season.

The teachers' county examination for certificates will be held in the office of the county superintendent January 9, 30 and 31.

A Suggestion.

In Territorial days I was selected to teach a subscription school in a certain locality. The tuition ranged from $1.25 to $2.50 per month and no one responsible for the pay except the individual parent. So my salary depended (as every other territorial teacher's did) upon the number of pupils I could get in school and my ability to collect.

This term of school was to be and was a ten month's term and to begin the first Monday in September.

On the first morning I enrolled seven pupils and at the end of the month I had enrolled twelve pupils. This did not pay very well as I was about a 75 per cent collector. So I borrowed a horse on the following Saturday, after the end of the first month and went to see most every parent, and they were numerous, urging them to put their children in school. As a result of this visit to the parents, I had an enrollment of 18 pupils at the beginning of the second month. So, much elated over this, I continued my visits to the different parents each Saturday.

From this extra effort on my part I continued to enroll new pupils every week. So the beginning of the fourth month I had 80 regular pupils and an extra teacher employed.

This with a still increased enrollment the fifth month, I continued the rest of the term. Thus I made a good salary and I fully believe the pupils and the community were benefited by my work.

So I wonder if many of our rural teachers would do a little more of this social visiting and urging upon the parents the importance of putting their children in school with the same zeal and earnestness as teachers did when their salary depended upon the number in school, that the attendance would not be increased? Would not the community be blessed by the work, and is not that a part of our mission as teachers? If you think the suggestion good, try it.

Superintendent's Visits.

My first stop was at Pecan Grove. This school is being taught by Mr. Harris and Mrs. Lamb. They have the school well in hand and are doing good work. There were forty-five pupils present and 100 per cent at work. Very little improvement has been made on the building and school grounds.

The next school was Ahloso. Mr. Roper and Mrs. Satterfield are the teachers. This school was small, only thirty-five present, yet they were doing splendid work. Much improvement has been made in this district. School painted, drinking fountains, desks installed and a neat four room cottage for the teachers has been built.

From here I went to Union Valley school. This school is taught by our Normal standby, Mr. W. W. Jones and family. Their work has been tried and not found wanting. Mr. Jones is practicing the theory advocated by leading educators—stay in the same community. He has been in this school for five years. The community is co-operating with them as shown by the improvements made and the number in attendance which was eighty. Many of the students come a long distance horseback to get the advantage of high school work, which is being given in this school.

Next point was Owl Creek. On nearing the school you could see that the people of this district were interested in the welfare of their children. They have installed chemical toilets, sanitary drinking fountain and sanitary heating system. The attendance was small in this school, but Mr. Priest and Miss Nell Robinson were busy and getting good results from their class work.

Haskell was the next school visited. Here I found Miss Mattie McCord domiciled in a neat one room building with thirty-five pupils and handling all grades from the first to the eighth. Yet, Miss McCord seemed to be at home and the interest and work of the pupils were fine, even under those conditions.

Next place was Lula, a little town on the M. O. & G. Here I found a fine school spirit. They have added another room and one more teacher. They are making their improvements modern and up to date from a sanitary point of view.

This school has a ten acre campus and it is nicely fenced and a neat little four room teacherage built on the campus. In this teacherage lives Mr. C. W. White, who is principal of the school. They are doing one year of high school work for which they are accredited. Mr. White is hoping to add one or two more districts to this and build it up to a four year high school.

From Lula I went to Hall's Hill. Miss Savanna Keithley is teaching at this school. Her work was first class and the school interest and spirit were fine. She has all the common school grades and 36 pupils in attendance. This is one of the schools that take interest in the poultry work. They will have a poultry show when the weather is more favorable.

My next visits were the schools in the Conway district. They have two schools, one taught by Mr. Homer Miller and the other by Miss Nettie Qualls. I found these schools in good shape and extra good attendance. The attendance is generally a good index to the school interest. The work as a whole that I found in my week's round was most gratifying.

NEW BETHEL

The New Bethel school gave a box supper Friday night for the benefit of the athletic fund. Which brought one hundred twenty-three dollars and fifteen cents. The money will be used in buying equipment for the girl's basketball team, the boys' baseball team, and a victrola.

That the community have the proper school spirit is not only shown by the proceeds of the supper mentioned above, but by the following list of supplies that have been added this year: three convection heaters, three sanitary water coolers, four chemical toilets, one teacher's desk and chair, two suspension globes, one history chart, one chart on physiology and hygiene, one set of wall maps, and twenty tubular steel sanitary desks.

The school has enrolled seventy pupils, with about sixty in regular attendance. New pupils are being enrolled daily from families that have just moved into the district.

Avoid irregularity in the bowel movements, it leads to chronic constipation; a condition that poisons the blood and breeds disease. Prickly Ash Bitters is a man's remedy for putting the system in order. Price $1.25 per bottle. Bart Smith, Special Agent. (Adv.)

DEMPSEY TO MEET EUROPE'S CHAMP

BATTLE TO BE STAGED IN LOWER CALIFORNIA AND PROMISES TO BE ONE OF THE BEST YET SEEN.

By the Associated Press
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 5.—Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, was busy with his motion pictures today, and referred to his manager all inquiries about his prospective match with Georges Carpentier of France, Europe's champion, which Carpentier announced last night would be forty-five rounds long and would be staged at Tijuana, Lower California, under the auspices of James Cofferth. If the French champion would agree, Carpentier announced the division of the purse, $300,000 to the winner and $100,000 to the loser, as thoroughly satisfactory to him, and said that Cofferth has an agent in Europe attempting to induce Carpentier to sign a contract to meet him at Tijuana.

Kerns said he thought such a match would reach $750,000.

Dempsey has been in light training for several weeks. He announced sometime ago that he would endeavor to keep in such condition all the time, and then two weeks of real training would fit him for a real fight.

Cham. Commerce Carnival to Be a Real Show

J. M. Coleman of the Ada Motor Co., and chairman of the arrangement committee for the Chamber of Commerce Carnival to be staged at the city hall all next week, tells us that the affair is to be a real-honest-to-goodness show.

Mr. Coleman states that the various kinds of talent in the city are responding without the least hesitation to his requests for help, and that there will be staged throughout the week some of the best entertainments ever put on by local talent in these parts.

The big six show opening each evening about 7:30 and lasting until late bedtime, is being put on under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce with the idea of securing a neat little fund for operating expenses this year without having to make a "drive" among the business men for that purpose.

This being true it is the belief of those who have the work in hand that everybody in the city will cooperate with the committee and not only patronize the show liberally, but at the same time lend their support in helping to organize and perfect a program that will be worth the money to every person who attends.

It is said that many side-splitting stunts are to be staged, to say nothing of an expert orchestra, quartette and other means of entertainment that will be in evidence for the purpose of entertaining the crowd between acts. The committee is trying to so fix the program that there won't be a single dull moment from the time the doors open until they close.

The program and further details of what is in store for the public during carnival week will appear in the News from day to day.

Harry Scheinberg Leaves.

Harry Scheinberg has severed his connection with the Model and will leave tonight to take up his duties as sales manager of the Western Electric Company, Mr. Scheinberg leaves for Parsons, Kans., tonight, where he will meet some of his old fraternity brothers, and from there will go to Kansas City, and then to St. Louis, his old home, where he will visit more fraternity brothers as well as old friends for a few days, after which he will go to Chicago.

Harry says he regrets very much to leave all his friends in Ada, and his home which he has made in the city for the past year, since being discharged as a lieutenant in the army. He also regrets that he will not have the chance of coaching the high school track team this season, with which he did so much last spring. He also regrets to tender his resignation as head of the information bureau of the local post of the American Legion, for he was the writer of several articles which appeared in the News. While his many friends regret his leaving they wish him the best of success in his new field of labor.

CONGRESS TO WORK AFTER A VACATION

REASSEMBLES AFTER 2-WEEKS' HOLIDAY VACATION TO FIND MANY WEIGHTY PROBLEMS BEFORE IT.

By the Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Congress, returning to work today after a two weeks' holiday, faces one of the busiest sessions in history and a staggering array of problems awaiting solution.

In addition to domestic matters, some of which will have far reaching effect on the industrial life of the country, there are international questions of importance that must be settled, including the treaty of peace with Germany and Austria.

Adjournment was not expected before fall and the only break in the long session that one can look forward to is the brief recess that will be taken coincident with the national party conventions during the summer.

Important domestic legislation awaiting action included the railroad reorganization bill, the oil, coal, gas and phosphate land leasing bill, both of whom are now in conference; army reorganization; shipping legislation, control of undesirable aliens and scores of other subjects. Many investigations also have been arranged for by both the senate and the house. Among them will be the Mexican situation, the coal situation and the Ford-Newberry election.

The house before taking up various appropriation measures is expected to vote on the question of seating Victor Berger, Milwaukee socialist, who was ousted last session but re-elected at a special election held recently. Leaders predicted a prompt rejection of Berger's re-election certificate.

OUT OF ARCTIC AFOOT AND WITH ONLY DOG TEAM

By the Associated Press
SEATTLE, Jan. 4.—On his way out of the Arctic, Harold Noice, American explorer, is making his way, on foot, with a dog team, overland from Victoria Land, which lies in the Arctic Ocean, southeast to Port Nelson, in the Hudson's Bay country of Canada, according to letters received here by his mother from him. Noice is following, for a considerable distance, the route of the northwest passage.

Maps and charts of portions of Victoria Land were made this summer by Noice, he said. He did not state whether or not he ventured into the interior of Victoria Land, which, according to other explorers who have come south, has never been visited by men from the outside world.

Noice has been in the Arctic since 1915. He joined the expedition headed by Vilhjalmur Stefansson but when Stefansson turned south Noice remained in the north. He expects to arrive here some time next summer.

Notice to Ada Enumerators.

On account of the plan of division of the change in the plan of enumeration in the city of Ada, the actual enumeration cannot begin until more definite instructions are received from Washington. I have wired for authority, to make some changes which are necessary, as the outline furnished me is incomplete and not definite enough for the enumerator to fully understand his territory. I hope by the coming Monday to have this straightened out and all enumerators at work. However, it may be a day or two later. Any assistance legally and conscientiously tendered by enumerators in obtaining a full enumeration for your city will be highly appreciated by me. Of course you understand that all these changes must come from Washington and I have no authority to change any district without first securing the department's consent. Ada has grown so that the old program, as outlined, is insufficient. We are doing our best.

BIG EARTHQUAKE SHAKES MEXICO

TEN STATES SHAKEN, TWO VILLAGES DESTROYED AND MANY KILLED IN THE VOLCANIC SHOCK.

By the Associated Press
MEXICO CITY, Mex., Jan. 5.—Ten states were shaken by the earthquake which on Saturday night destroyed two villages and caused many deaths in the state of Vera Cruz. These ten states stretch from the Isthmus of Tehuantepec in a northwesterly direction, a distance of nearly five hundred miles and from the gulf of Mexico to the Pacific.

Reports received up to 11 o'clock last night indicated that the center of the convulsion was in the neighborhood of Mount Orizaba, a volcano situated about seventy miles west of Vera Cruz on the line between the states of Vera Cruz and Puebla. It was in this neighborhood that the most serious damage was done. Teocelo, a village thirty five miles northeast of the volcano, has been virtually destroyed and a similar fate befell Cozuitan, a small hamlet in that neighborhood. Wires have been torn down and only fragmentary reports have reached this city, but it is stated that there are many casualties in both towns. Reports from Orizaba, a city 10 miles south of the volcano, stated that several business blocks and churches near the center of the town were wrecked. In the suburb of this city the shock was very severe, many persons being reported killed.

Fifteen distinct shocks were experienced at Cordoba, a city ten miles east of Orizaba.

While telegrams last night from the state of Vera Cruz where the earthquake was so severe, reported scores killed. None of the casualties were reported.

MISSIONARIES OUT FOR REFORM AMONG THE JAPS

By the Associated Press
TOKIO, Dec. 4.—The Christian missionaries of Japan, through Dr. Arthur Berry, of the American Methodist Episcopal Mission, have pledged their support to a program of administrative reforms in Korea. These plans were announced by Dr. Mizuno, Director of Civil Affairs in the new government-general of Korea, at a meeting of 200 missionaries and other foreigners held in the Imperial Hotel, the other day.

The missionaries also promised to furnish criticism whenever it was believed to be necessary. This criticism, Dr. Berry explained, is to be friendly, constructive, optimistic and intended to help. Baron Sakatani, who presided, said the new watchword in Korea today is "justice and sympathy" in which he said the missionaries could render aid.

Dr. Mizuno told the missionaries what he hoped to accomplish in Korea in providing equal treatment for Koreans and Japanese and in educational and prison reforms. He announced that the punishment of Koreans by flogging would be abolished. He said it was an old Korean custom but that Japan recognized it was at variance with modern ideas.

THE EFFICIENCY OF ADVERTISING

Any trade method that merchants have found helpful over a long period of years, is pretty apt to be based on sound economic law. Therefore the people who claim that advertising adds to the cost of goods have got to explain away the fact that for generations the most enterprising business men have consistently used advertising.

The writer was recently looking over the files of a newspaper that had been published a full century. Way back before the Civil War, that paper was publishing a lot of advertising. Almost any of the old papers would make a similar showing.

The people that feel that advertising is valueless are at tacking one of the foundation principles of business success. It will be interesting in this little series of discussions, to consider what trade conditions would be in a non-advertising community, and how the introduction of advertising affects sales, prices and service.

CITIZENS CLAIM IT WILL BE THE BIGGEST SHOW OF THE KIND EVER HELD IN THE SOUTHWEST

TULSA, Okla., Jan. 5.—Plans for the holding of the fourth annual Tulsa Automobile show, March 1 to 6 inclusive, indicate that one of the greatest motor exhibits ever held in the southwest is to be held here this year.

The year of 1920 promises to be an eventful one in the industrial world of the United States. This is particularly true in the automotive world. Strikes, and the resultant unrest, with the inability to assume pre-war conditions, are certain to give way to a greater general production and a greater prosperity than ever before.

Despite the great part played by the automobile, truck, tractor and accessories, in the winning of the world war, the automotive industry was remarkably quick in returning to pre-war conditions. In fact, pre-war conditions have been nearly if not entirely attained in the motoring world and it is the post-war conditions that now concern the various two million and more persons identified in the industry.

Tulsa's automobile shows have been successful affairs, especially that of last year. But this year's Tulsa automobile exhibit will be the best ever held here and one of the greatest ever staged in the southwest, including the Dallas and Kansas City exhibits.

G. Y. Parrish, president of the Tulsa Automobile Dealers' Association, says, that extensive plans are being made for the exhibit. Practically every well known member of the motoring industry will be represented at the show. Light cars for business use, heavier machines for pleasure, and luxurious limousines, will be on display. Tires, and all accessories will also be exhibited at the show. Experienced salesmen, versed in all the details of the particular subject in which they deal will instruct the layman on the various intricate problems of their subject.

Representatives from several eastern and western factories in addition to distributors from over the entire west will attend the Tulsa exhibit, word to hat effect having been received here.

The show is to be held at the Universal Motor Car Company building, with which will be decorated by a well known decorator.

To date, 89 spaces have been reserved and by the time the doors are opened March 1, it is expected that over 100 exhibitors will be a portion of the show.

Sol Dan, secretary of the Tulsa Automobile Dealers' association, assumes the management of the show for the fourth consecutive year.

Native Maids of Guam Learn to Do Culinary Stunts

By the Associated Press
OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 5.—Native maids of the island of Guam know how to make salads of mung bean sprouts and banana buds, now, and no longer do they eat raw vegetables and fruits. From Mrs. Glenn Briggs of Ada, Okla., who spent two years in Guam, the maids of Guam have learned how to cook delectable dishes.

Graduation from the Oklahoma College of Agriculture and Mechanics was followed by marriage and a honeymoon in Guam where Mr. Briggs had charge of agricultural clubs then being organized. Mrs. Briggs applied her knowledge of domestic science to the products of the island, with the result that the premium list for the Guam fair, to be held in February, included premiums for exhibits of yeast bread, Tuba rolls, Tituya bread, stewed fanihi, turtle, amson, and other native dishes which the maids of Guam have learned to prepare.

Meeting Postponed.
In Saturday's issue appeared an article and a few names solicited for the purpose of electing a board of directors for the Children's Home now in operation at 420 E. Main, Ada, Okla., known as the "Day Nursery," but some of the members being called out of town we will call the board together later as we feel as if we had not given all a chance to let the world know where you stand.

These names will not stop at the Ada press but many other newspapers will be talking about little things around Ada. If you are in business or can call yourself a loyal citizen of Pontotoc county, don't forget that your name in our list will give you more advertisement than you will get for the same money anywhere else. It not only helps us to go on with our work but shows to the world that you mean to do your part to lift the unfortunate children to higher planes of life.

Farmers, remember you have been blessed with plenty in the past few months, so don't forget to drop in at the office and put your name on the list. We intend to write up 2,000 members in the next thirty days. One dollar a year will not make or break anyone, but will do a great deal of good when collected together.

Quite a number called me over the phone and asked why their names were in the paper with a big blank. Of course we know their intentions are to pay, but we have no right to add anything. I handed the paper to Luther Harrison just as you handed it back to me. The Scripture does not give us any certain time, but repeatedly says, "Now is the accepted time."

The East Central Normal was not swung into operation by one person, and why should you wait any longer to do your part. Little folks if given their early training in a well disciplined home, will surely reach the Normal later on. And we will all be happy to see the great results and know how far our dollar went to help those who could not help themselves.

May I hope to see your name when I call at the office?

"SNOWBALLING" IS LABOR'S TROUBLE

EXPERT SAYS NINETY-FIVE PER CENT OF STRIKES IS DUE TO CONTROVERSIES AMONG WORKERS THEMSELVES

By the Associated Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Ninety-five percent of the strikes and 75 percent of the day of idleness in the building trades in the past have occurred through what is known as "snowballing" or controversies between wage earners themselves as to which trade should do the work says Franklin T. Miller, president of the F. W. Dodge company and formerly Director of the Division of Public Works and Construction of the United States Department of Labor. Only 5 percent, he declares, have been on questions between employer and employee.

Mr. Miller, who has been in touch with the construction industry in this country for 25 years, cited the case of a big Chicago hotel costing millions, the work on which had been delayed, he said, more than a year because of a disagreement between skilled workers as to who should handle certain doors because of the preponderance of metal over wood. This he said was an inevitable consequence of the rapid development of the industry. Analyzing the situation and the building outlook for 1920, Mr. Miller said:

"The creation of a Board of Jurisdictional Award by the United States Department of Labor, a board composed of architects, engineers, contractors, material men and wage-earners, promises a solution of one of the most difficult labor problems in the building industry. As a result of it decreased cost of construction may be expected. The Board of Jurisdictional Award has been formulated with the full approval of all interests concerned, who seem to have entered into it without reservations.

"The labor outlook in the building industry thus promises a condition of greater stability during the coming year because of the organized dealings between employers and employees, with full recognition of the term contract and arbitration principles.

"The first serious labor troubles in the building industry," said Mr. Miller, in reviewing the national construction shortage, "occurred in the latter part of October 1918, through a strike of carpenters on government work in Brooklyn in violation of the Baker-Gompers agreement, a pact between the War Department and the American Federation of Labor. This strike was settled by a compromise early in March, 1919, but in the meantime it threatened a sympathetic nationwide strike of the building trades and held up construction, not only in New York but made it uncertain throughout the land. Other labor troubles sprang up throughout the country, notably in Chicago, where the whole building trade was tied up from July to September, 1919."

Since then conditions have improved but there would not be complete harmony in the building industry he indicated until the Federal Board of Jurisdictional Award began to function.

From April 1919, to last July, the War Department, through Colonel Arthur Woods as Special Assistant to the Secretary of War, engaged in the active promotion of public works in order to provide jobs for returning soldiers," concluded Mr. Miller. "Then it appeared that there would not be sufficient labor, materials and capital for the necessary new construction of the country. The promotion of none-productive public works was abandoned. The Federal Reserve Board, early in December, 1919, announced its purpose of postponing the erection of its contemplated banking institutions. These are among the factors in the present situation."

GENERAL BARRETT IS OFF FOR WASHINGTON

By News Special Service

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 5.—Brig. Gen. Charles F. Barrett, adjutant general of Oklahoma, left yesterday for Washington, to be absent about ten days in conference with the militia bureau of the war department and the Oklahoma congressional delegation relative to matters of great importance to the National Guard of Oklahoma.

One of the first matters to be advocated is the reorganization of the First Oklahoma, which was this state's national guard unit in the European War. Officers and men of the old First are enthusiastic over the proposal to reorganize and return to the state's service. While another regiment of the national guard in this state could not be authorized before July 1, General Barrett wishes to begin the reorganization as early in the spring as possible if the authority is to be granted.

There are several bills before Congress in which the guard is greatly interested and these matters General Barrett intends to bring before the attention of the congressional delegation and urge their advocacy or opposition as the best interests of the organization demand.

The matter of securing motor equipment for the two regiments now in service of the state and for the additional units authorized will also be undertaken on this trip. There is to be a battalion of artillery put into service as soon as possible and General Barrett is determined that its equipment shall be motorized. Experience at the annual camp at Ft. Sill last fall and during the two or three calls under strike duty have demonstrated that horse drawn equipment is impractical. The military department of the state now has a warehouse filled with wagons and harness but owns no livestock and the department wishes to avoid the expense of procuring and keeping up stock to draw this equipment. One and a half ton trucks are the practical equipment in every unit and General Barrett wishes to have the department recall the horse drawn equipment and replace it with trucks.

Being in that picture and let me see it. The wages of idleness is demotion.

Never contrive to make it easy for your concern to get along without you.

If you cultivate your talents you'll always find an opportunity to use them.

If you have half an hour to spare, don't spend it with someone who hasn't.

SOLD EVERYWHERE

To try to control railroad rates by arbitrarily limiting profits is to put the manager who makes his profits by efficiency and economy on the same level as the one who tries to accomplish the same result through extortionate charges.

Hadley Railroad Securities Commission; Report to the President—1911.

THE old-time pack-bearer could carry a hundred pounds ten miles a day.

The railroad is the modern pack-bearer. For every employee it carries 2,000 times as much.

Back of each railroad worker there is a $10,000 investment in tracks and trains and terminals, with steam and electricity harnessed like a great beast of burden.

Without this mighty transportation machine the railroad worker could do no more than the old-time packer. But with it he is enabled to earn the highest railroad wages paid in the world, while the country gains the lowest-cost transportation in the world.

The modern railroad does as much work for half a cent as the pack-bearer could do for a full day's pay.

The investment of capital in transportation and other industries increases production, spreads prosperity and advances civilization.

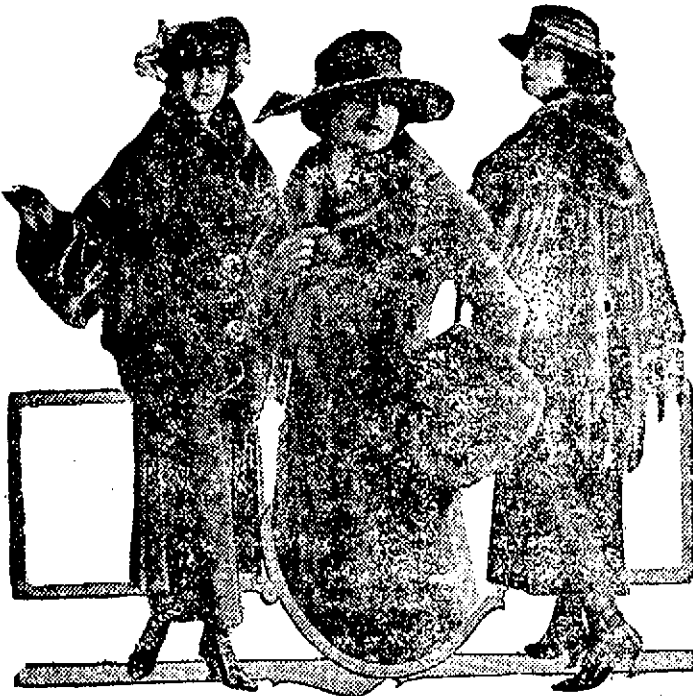

To enlarge our railroads so that they may keep pace with the Nation's increasing production, to improve them so that freight may be hauled with less and less human effort—a constant stream of new capital needs to be attracted.

Under wise public regulation the growth of railroads will be stimulated, the country will be adequately and economically served, labor will receive its full share of the fruits of good management, and investors will be fairly rewarded.

These Are Real Furs

Just now, with Christmas near, the shops are featuring fur garments and fur sets, knowing by experience that a certain percentage of people will be sure to purchase them as gifts. If you are among the number, be prepared to find prices far higher than you have ever known them, and the prospect of their being reduced is not cheerful. Garments made of the finest and rarest skins are prohibitive, except for the very rich, the price of all pelts and the price of labor having gone steadily higher for several seasons. The finest skins have reached the limit and are reported to have made a slight decline, while those that are more common have made an advance all along the line. Wages are not likely to decrease for sometime, and fur-bearing animals grow scarcer. In view of these things a good fur garment, or fur set may be considered a fairly safe investment, and nothing in Christmas gifts is more cherished.

ple and gracious lines that promise well for a day in the future when it may be altered in style.

The glorious cape at the right of the group is made of dark mink skins and has a very large shawl collar. It is fringed at the bottom with long and short tails and there is no skin that can outshine it for beauty. Mink is a durable fur, and there is an advantage in having a cape of it; for capes are never out of style. So beautiful a garment need not concern itself as to whether it is more or less popular than other styles. But such a cape is more than likely to have its price mark written in three figures. It is expressed in terms of thousands probably, but these are real furs with real values.

The handsome fur set that holds the center of the picture is as rich and as durable as its companions. It is a short cape-scarf of very dark brown martin finished with tails and muffler collar, having a round muff matching it, as a life companion. This is a brilliant and very beautiful fur classed as "hard" by furriers on account of the way it resists wear and keeps its luster. It may be counted on to last for years.

THIRD OF STEEL WORKERS ARE OUT

PLANTS, HOWEVER, ARE REPORTED TO BE RUNNING NORMAL WITH OTHER THAN UNION HELP

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 5.—Fully one third of the estimated 350,000 steel workers, who obeyed the order of the National Steel Strike committee Sept. 22 last, are still on strike, say the strike leaders. Yet the employees assert that the mills and furnaces of the Carnegie Steel Company, the principal interest against which the strike was directed, as well as mills and furnaces of independent companies, are in steady operation with virtually a normal force of workmen.

In recent weeks strike headquarters in this city has devoted its time to keeping in line the men who had not gone back to work, and to caring for the destitute, while the steel companies have been busy building up their forces and increasing production.

"We have dug in and are biding our time," say the union leaders when asked concerning their plans for the future.

"We are going along as usual, making and selling steel," say the employers in answer to a similar question.

W. Z. Foster, secretary of the National Steel Strike committee, is in charge of headquarters here, and receiving reports from organizers in all parts of the district, who are charged with the duty of preventing desertions.

Another section has been organized to provide food for needy strikers and their families, canteens have been opened, and every week food is distributed. As the strike lengthens the number of persons in need of relief increases, but officials of the committee insist they have met every call made upon them.

Efforts to obtain the exact number who are still out have been unsuccessful, as the strike leaders have been unable to determine the exact number of men who have entered other industries, the number who have returned to their old places in the mills, or the number who have returned to their native lands. Their best calculations, however, place the number still on strike at more than 100,000.

This position is supported by leading independent who declare that the unskilled labor situation in the industry is serious, and men for this class of work is hard to find.

The Carnegie Steel Company, however, has no complaint on this score. Its records for the third week in December, the last reports available, showing 51,000 men on the payrolls as against a normal force of 52,000.

Meetings of strikers now are permitted if sanctioned by local authorities.

BOXING TO BECOME UNIVERSAL SPORT

IDEA IS GAINING MUCH SUPPORT IN COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES IN ALL PARTS OF COUNTRY.

By the Associated Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Boxing as an intercollegiate sport is rapidly gaining supporters at a number of colleges and universities in all parts of the country and championship tournaments under revised ring rules are not at all unlikely within the next few years. Inter-varsity bouts between picked boxing teams representing Oxford and Cambridge universities have been part of the annual English sport schedule for many years and similar contests are not entirely unknown in the United States.

It is expected that such meetings will become more frequent as the boom in boxing gathers strength. The tendency in this direction is shown by a number of recent reports of boxing activity among the collegians. Word comes from Peoria, Ill., that the "Little Conference" has included boxing in its list of major sports and that a championship tournament would be held next spring.

In the east the University of Pennsylvania has long been an ardent advocate of boxing for the college athlete and has several times suggested the formation of an intercollegiate Boxing League. At the present time both Pennsylvania and Penn. State College have the largest squads of boxers trying for the teams in the history of the sport. Both squads are under the instruction of competent coaches and there will be a dual tournament early in the spring between the two institutions as was the case in 1919. Dartmouth and other colleges in the east have engaged boxing coaches and plan intramural tournaments with the possibility of a broader activity within a year or two.

The plan for a set of international boxing rules to supersede the antiquated Marquis of Queensberry code promises to be a subject of considerable controversy during the coming months. The Army, Navy and Civilian Board of Boxing Control in this country recently sent a representative abroad with the outline for new regulations. Later it was learned that the International Boxing Federation, a European organization, was also at work on such a set of rules. It was further learned that there was a wide gulf between the proposed codes and that so far as the European authorities were concerned there was little inclination to adopt the American idea.

The Amateur Athletic Union has also issued a notice to all candidates for places on the American Olympic Games boxing team that the contests at Antwerp next summer will be conducted under the English amateur boxing rules and that they must familiarize themselves with this code if they expect to make the team. These rules differ in a number of respects from the United States regulations and a point winner under the latter might be declared the loser in a bout fought at Antwerp.

In this connection a portion of the report of the manager of the A. A. U. team of boxers who recently returned from a tournament trip through Scandinavia is enlightening. All the bouts were fought under English amateur rules. The manager states:

"America learned a lesson from the tour which will be of great aid in preparing a championship combination for the Olympic games. The rules under which the Americans competed in Denmark and Sweden are the rules which will govern

"The American boxers will have to change their tactics if they hope to win at the Olympic games next summer, and the American Olympic Committee and those responsible for amateur boxing should take advantage of the lesson learned on this tour, and endeavor to change the styles of some of our best amateurs.

Some Things You Ought To Know About Advertising

Advertising is not a mystery any more than salesmanship, merchandising, law, government, blacksmithing and farming are mysteries. It is the close application of common sense; it is built and based upon Confidence. So is every business transaction—every social relation, civilization, life itself. Keep that thought in mind.

The greatest successes we know are advertising successes. More money is made through this medium than any other. The business man who fails to see and appreciate this truth, is, to say the least, unfortunate. He is wilfully throwing away money. Any business minus a reasonable amount of newspaper advertising is unstable. If there were any surer method to business success than through the medium of newspaper advertising, someone would have discovered it long ago. Be assured of that.

We believe—we have always believed—that if the business organizations of our town and community would use more discretion in their advertising, and use more advertising space in the newspapers, this would, more than anything else, discourage the mail order business. The mail order houses appreciate good advertising. Why? Because it gets the business.

Today no business concern can survive without judicious advertising, and the success of any institution is just as great as its advertising makes it. A river cannot rise above its head. A business cannot rise above its advertising. Advertising is to business what gasoline is to an automobile. No matter how good may be your automobile, it will not go without gasoline. Think about this.

We are on the eve of a new advertising era. It will be just as big as we care to make it, or as small. Advertising is one of the greatest forces in the world. It has accomplished purposes which no other agency has ever been capable of doing. The printed word reaches further, is more effective, and brings things to pass more quickly and satisfactorily in almost every instance than the spoken message. You will agree that the great liberty loan and other war work drives were brought to a magnificent conclusion through the aid of the printed message in the newspapers of this country. You will also agree that advertising is the only agency that could have accomplished so great a task in so short a time. Think of the many millions of dollars that have been passed along to the aid of Uncle Sam, and his great cause in behalf of humanity. Newspaper advertising played an important part in every drive; in fact, it is safe to say that the newspapers were potent factors in every undertaking looking toward the maintenance and comfort of our troops abroad as well as those of our camps and cantonments in this country.

Other Media Secondary

We are all aware that there are numberless avenues through which the public can be reached, billboards, street cars, dead walls, circulars, souvenirs, etc. But in the opinion of the merchant princes of the world these and all other modes of advertising are but secondary to newspaper advertising. There are many men in business who fail to take newspaper advertising seriously, to the extent of employing it to promote their enterprises. They refuse to be convinced. They lose out eventually. You know of many of them in the past few years who have gone into the discard as a result of their failure to advertise.

Remember always the bigger the business, the more it needs the assistance of sound advertising. Never put off until tomorrow the profits you should be making today by having advertised yesterday. If you could gather five or ten thousand prospective buyers into a large auditorium daily and talk to them, you would not need newspaper or any other advertising. But you can not do this, so the only alternative is to put those same words into print and send them to prospective buyers through the newspaper. Can you think of a better way? If so, we would like to have you tell us—it would be the greatest discovery of the age. The newspaper is always a power in any community, either for good or evil. Advertising can do nothing for the man who disregards it. Advertising doesn't add to your resources so much as it multiplies them.

We say to you conscientiously that the local newspaper is the greatest merchandising force in the world. It has helped build some of the world's greatest organizations; and the fact that some of the world's greatest stores advertise extensively and constantly, is proof that IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE. Knowledge plus enthusiasm plus advertising, equals Prosperity. Time means money. Advertising saves time. Your advertisement in the newspaper has greater weight than what you say personally because it has the additional weight of the newspaper's recommendation which combines in giving the buying public confidence in you and your merchandise.

Do you wish to increase your business? We'll give you the answer—we'll tell you how to do it. Increase your advertising, and watch it grow. What! Do you doubt our statement? Ask some of the biggest concerns in the world. They'll tell you we speak the truth. Think about this, and ask yourself every day of the week if you are advertising enough. May we not come in counsel with you to help solve some of your advertising problems? Call on us—let us talk it over anyway. We know a whole lot that will be of great value to you.

A TRAGEDY OF POLITICS

The recent attempts to assassinate Lord French in Dublin (two efforts to take his life being reported in a week) tend to remind the reader of the tragic days of 1914 when England's "Old Contemptibles" were fighting for the life of the empire in France and Belgium. At that time Lord French, then known as Sir John French, was in command of the British Expeditionary Forces. And the world has long since learned that no more desperate fighting was ever done by the soldiers of Britain than on that terrible retreat from Mons to Lagny, and afterwards at the first Ypres battle where they saved the channel ports and the empire from overwhelming numbers of the Hun.

It was at Mons that the "Old Contemptibles" had their baptism of fire. Here through a day of murderous fighting Sir John French, with only 80,000 raw troops, time and again hurled back the broken lines of five times that many Germans. But the long lines of Prussians reached round his flanks forced him to leave the field in order to save his army. Then and there began the most brilliant retreat in history. Yielding the Mons-Lagny line inch by inch, the British carpeted the line of march with the bodies of the enemy. Through the blazing heat of August days, through the mists and rains of August nights, ever under the iron storms of shell-fire, ever harassed by German cavalry, with little food, and no sleep or rest, Tommy Atkins kept his lines unbroken till he had crossed the Marne.

Then came the rush of Gallieni's army in taxis to the battle front, the flank attack of Manoury's corps, the decisive thrust of Foch at La Fere Champenoise, and the frantic retreat of Von Kluck's army to the hills behind the Aisne. Having assisted the legions of France in winning the First Marne battle, the British contingent started on the historic race to the sea, reaching the wastes of Nieuport only in time to stop the waves of Germany sweeping towards the channel ports.

In November came the first crash at Ypres. Outnumbered eleven to one the expeditionary army was called upon to hold thirty miles of battle stretching through the unbroken flats of Flanders. There was no protection from the fire of the enemy. There was not a stone, a trench or a thicket to protect the outnumbered defenders. In many places there was only one soldier to defend five yards of the line. There was no reserve.

At the village Krueiseik, 3,000 British were ordered to hold the lines to the last man. When the commander told French that he would have to have reinforcements, Sir John replied: "You see my staff. They are the only troops between you and the channel." At the end of a hundred hours of fighting, 15,000 of the Prussian Guards lay dead before the village. Only a handful of the British were left, but they still held the lines. Elsewhere—at St. Eloi—dismounted British cavalry time and again charged regiments of the best troops that ever crossed the hine and hurled them broken from the field.

The "Old Contemptibles" were almost annihilated at Ypres. But not all the glories of Agincourt and Crecy and Waterloo outshine the splendor bestowed on British arms by the heroism of those awful days in Flanders. The brightest stars that shine in the galaxy of Britain were planted there by the dead who sleep in shallow graves from Nieuport to the Yperlee. And the matchless leadership displayed by Sir John French should give him rank in history with Marlborough and Wellington.

It is one of the grim tragedies of politics that the lauded hero of the "Old Contemptibles" should become the popular mark of assassins in a troubled city. The man who has wrought so much for Britain deserves a better fate than to be fired at by men who sympathized with the enemies of England while she was fighting for civilization. Lord French is an old man. He should be left at peace in his own house to call back the memories of Tommy Atkins, whom he led to glory on the red fields of war.

Now it is reported that Bryan is trying to come back. If he really succeeds in beating back, we shall confidently look for as many democratic victories as we had from 1896 to 1912.

The president of a well known institution of learning writes us that he "seen a copy of our paper on the train and would like to read it permanent."

ABOUT EDITORS

Ever see a fellow with his tie on crooked, a black, very black cigar hanging out of one corner of his facial excavation, peaking down under or over a pair of lop-sided spectacles—well, that's the editor.

All editors aren't alike—but most of them are.

The editor sits in judgment upon his fellowman; talks a lot about congress, wails about foreign relations, cusses the profiteers, does a whole lot of eulogizing on departed citizens, and is usually the first to shake new-comers by the editorial paw.

Editors are a homely lot. That is most of them are. Most editors are of a pretty good sort—having of course, the interest of their fellow-man at heart.

Editors get cussed, too.

No two editors have ever been known to agree on any one thing, although once in a while you see one paper printing something some other fellow wrote—that's because the boss slept a little late and didn't get down in time to pound out a few masterpieces. Some people might say the blank paper there would be a whole lot better, but that's not good typographical style—besides you might mention somebody's name in the column and be repaid threefold by an ad in the paper. Good business, eh, what?

Few editors live long—it's a hard life.

Half of his time is spent in doing his regular work—the other half in fixing up his mistakes.

Editors are called crooks, radicals, extremists and knockers. Nobody ever said a good word for the editor.

Most of these birds are married—which is the final proof of their misfortune, somebody says.

An editor is one person the good people of Ardmore won't throw henfruit at—they say he's not worth it.

It all goes to show that it's a great life—a great life—a great life if you don't weaken!

COME AND SEE FOR YOURSELF

Two More Arrested on Suspicion of the Killing of Ragland

Leonard Surratt and Jim Goodrich were arrested yesterday afternoon by Seminole County officers on a charge of complicity in the murder of Tom Ragland last Thursday evening. Goodrich was taken to Wewoka, while Surratt was brought to Ada and is now in the county jail.

The evidence against the two men arrested is said to be purely circumstantial. Goodrich is a brother of John Goodrich, who received a threatening letter the night Ragland was killed. Surratt is a nephew of Jno. S. Cravens, who also received a similar letter. All the letters received by men in the East Fairview community at the time of the killing were typewritten, and it is reported from Konawa that the typewriter on which the letters are believed to have been written was found at the Goodrich home.

Surratt was seen at the jail today by a News reporter. He states that he had been at Cravens' home only two months, having come to Oklahoma from Washington County, Arkansas. He states that on the night of the killing he was at the home of a neighbor helping to load some hogs. The story carried in some of the morning papers that Cravens was arrested yesterday was an error, due perhaps to a confusion of names.

YESTERDAY AT THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH

There was an unusually large attendance at the Sunday School yesterday morning, one hundred and sixty-one being present. A new class was formed with Mr. E. D. Emerson as teacher. This is a class of Junior boys. There was good singing and a fine spirit.

At the morning hour of worship when the invitation was given, two persons came forward for membership—Miss George Belle Gago, of Purcell, Oklahoma, and Miss Minnie Criswell, of Clovis, New Mexico, both of whom came to put in their membership with the church. Miss Purcell is a student here in the Normal college, and is rooming at 119 N. Mississippi. Miss Criswell is deputy county clerk, and stays at her brothers, J. C. Criswell.

At the meeting of the elders and deacons in the afternoon, a committee was appointed to make an investigation with reference to securing funds from the National Board of Church Extension for the New Church building. The committee consists of L. T. Walters, C. E. Cunningham, and Walter Coyne. Another committee was appointed to take up the matter of securing an evangelist for a revival meeting some time in the summer. Other matters were discussed in reference to the new church building.

In the evening a fine audience gathered to hear the first of the sixteen sermons on the Book of Revelation. The preacher's theme was, "The Glorified Christ." The audience proved themselves good listeners. A quartet rendered most commendably, "Crossing the Bar." The quartet consisted of C. E. Cunningham, L. T. Walters, E. E. Emerson, and Oscar Parker, all members of the church.

The next one of these sermons will be preached on the subject, "The Seven Spirits of God" next Sunday evening. The best seats can be secured by coming early.

Filipino Proverbs.

There is a certain dignity in many of the proverbs native to the Philippine islands. "A hero is braver for wounds," the Filipinos say. "Quality of gold is known by rubbing against a stone." "He who despises counsel is on the way to misfortune." "Whoever believes everything that is said has no mind of his own." "Some there is gentle humor. "A sleeping shrimp is carried away by the current." "A fish is caught by its mouth." "If you sleep, brother, the crocodile will eat you up."

SUPREME COURT SAYS VOLSTEAD ACT LEGAL

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The supreme court today declared constitutional the sections of the Volstead prohibition enforcement act prohibiting the manufacture and sale of "beer, wines, or other intoxicating liquors," containing one-half of one per cent or more of alcohol.

Beer containing 2 3-4 per cent of alcohol is illegal under the wartime prohibition act, the supreme court decided.

Dismissal by the lower court in New York of injunction proceedings brought to restrain government officials from interfering with Jacob Ruppert, a brewer, in the manufacture of beer containing approximately 2 3-4 per cent alcohol but alleged to be non-intoxicating, was sustained.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Associate Justice Brandeis, who rendered the opinion of the court, said the power of the act of suppressing liquor was not a power of justice, but a power of justice.

The court was divided, five of the associate justices favoring the constitutionality of the measure, while four, Gay, Vandevender, Clark and McReynolds, dissented.

Justice McReynolds in a dissenting opinion, said that the Eighteenth Amendment had not yet come into effect, and that the federal government had not the general power to prohibit the manufacture and sale of liquor. He took the ground that the war emergency under the national prohibition act was not effective.

guilty at Chehalis and were granted a change of venue to Montesano.

In the investigation many eye witnesses said the first shooting was begun without warning or provocation by those inside the I. W. W. hall. Some said the firing began from the hall after a single shot from the Avalon hotel, opposite the hall.

At the coroner's inquest Dr. Frank Bickford, Centralia physician and former service man, who was marching in the parade, testified that the shooting began only after the marchers started to rush the hall.

Wesley Everetts, said to have been an I. W. W. organizer and slayer of Hubbard, was spirited from the jail in the night following the shooting, the electric lights of the town having been cut off. He was taken by the mob to a bridge over the Chehalis river where he was hanged.

Several service men who were wounded by shots have completely recovered.

Twenty-four men, rounded up after the shooting, were charged with criminal activities but several of these have since been released.

Mothers' Club Meets.

The Mothers' Club of the Willard School held its regular business meeting Friday afternoon.

A quartette consisting of four girls from the eighth grade gave a song that was enjoyed very much. The club has purchased a new picture for the eighth grade room.

It was decided not to have a school garden this year, but to use the space for additional playgrounds. The seventh grade received the picture for the coming month.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

THE DIFFERENT LIGHTS.

"Well, hello, are you here?" asked the little green lights.

"Yes, are you here?" asked the little blue lights.

"And you're here too," said the yellow lights.

"Don't forget about us," said the little red lights, and the dark blue lights said:

"Don't forget about us just because our cousins, the light-blue lights are here."

"What are we here for?" asked the little green lights.

"That sounds funny," said the little blue lights.

"What sounds funny?" asked the little green lights.

"What you just said," answered the little blue lights.

"You asked what were we here for," said the little green lights.

"No," said the little blue lights.

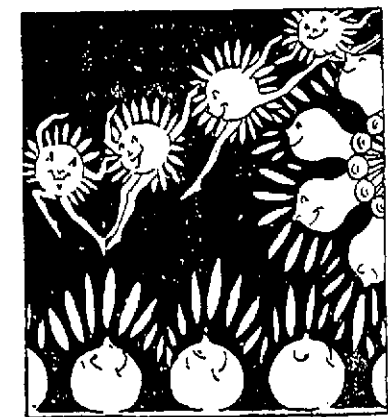

"Then it doesn't strike us it's such a funny question," said the little green lights.

"It seems funny that we shouldn't know, either of us," said the little blue lights.

"We know why we're here," said the little yellow lights.

"How very bright of you," said the others.

"You see when they were putting us up they tried us to see how we worked."

"Danced and Sparkled."

They lighted us, in other words. Now, all of you are very, very bright."

All the little lights sparkled and danced with joy at the compliment and said: "Continue with your story, yellow lights."

"When they lighted us we were bright of course, even though it was the daytime and even though it is at night that we really show our brightness."

"Couldn't we show it in the daytime as you did when they were trying us, or rather trying you?" asked the little green lights.

"Do you mean you wonder whether or not we could show our brightness in the daytime?" asked the little yellow lights.

"That's what we mean," said the little green lights.

"In a way we could," said the little yellow lights, "but not as we could at night. You see at night it is very dark and then we can show off our brightness. But in the daytime it is very bright anyway and our brightness doesn't count for much."

"In a way we think that is fair," said the little green lights.

"What do you mean by that?" asked the little blue lights.

"We think it is both fair and rather lovely," said the little green lights, "that in the daytime Mr. Sun is the bright one, and that the work of dear Mother Nature is so much greater than the work of people. For we're made by people, invented by people, lighted by people."

"That's so," said the little blue lights. "You're bright, little green lights."

"But," said the little green lights, "we interrupted the story. We want to hear what the little yellow lights heard as they were being tested, or tried out, or whatever they called it, this afternoon."

"Tell us what you heard, yellow lights," all the other lights shouted.

"We heard," said the little yellow lights, "that the town was having a birthday. Now that is very much more wonderful evidence than when creatures have birthdays, or it is more wonderful, at any rate, than when most creatures have birthdays."

"So they're decorating the town all up, and here, in the center, in this square, they've put all of us small sparkling lights because we'll make the town look so gay and so pretty and so merry and so dancing."

"Is that the way the town wants to look?" asked the little green lights.

"Of course," said the little yellow lights, "for on a birthday every one wants to feel happy and joyful."

So far the little lights had been sparkling brightly and then less brightly, but what should they hear now but a band and then they saw a procession coming down the street. Oh, how they danced and sparkled and the little different lights helped so much in the town's birthday celebration.

TO OFFER REWARD FOR ASSASSINS

ACTING GOVERNOR TRAPP EXPECTED TO OFFER REWARD FOR RAGLAND SLAYERS IN SEMINOLE CO.

By News' Special Service.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 5.—Acting Governor Trapp is expected to issue a proclamation today offering a reward for the apprehension of the murderer or murderers of Thomas Ragland, Seminole county resident, whose body was found four miles south of Konawa Friday morning.

Telegraphic dispatches from Konawa yesterday indicated that the note found in Ragland's clothing indicating that he had been slain because of his activity in war work, was merely a blind to cover another motive. Two other members of the Seminole county council of defense and draft board received similar notes but the Seminole county authorities are of the opinion that the note writing was a part of an elaborate plan to throw suspicion upon suspected disloyalists.

Seminole county was the center of what was facetiously referred to as "The Roastin' Ear Rebellion" in August, 1917. The Working Class Union, an organization declared to be almost identical with the Industrial Workers of the World, had been active in Seminole, Pontotoc and Pottawatomie counties for several weeks. "Locals" were organized at various rural school houses and leaders were elected who were expected to pilot the membership in a well directed plan of resistance to the draft and all other war measures.

The first outbreak occurred when two Seminole county deputy sheriffs were fired upon in the Little River country. Armed men burned railroad bridges, cut telegraph and telephone lines and threatened to overturn the government. In the midst of the rebellion warning was sent to the town of Konawa that a mob was advancing upon it to seize stores of ammunition and firearms and burn the town. A special train was run from Ada and a posse of officers, including more than 150 men, went to the relief of Konawa. The backbone of the rebellion, it indeed it had any spine, was broken when a posse charged a large band of supposed members who were feasting upon "roastin' ears" on a bald knob in the Little River country. It was a bloodless battle, and scores of suspects were rounded up. After the bald knob incident arrests came thick and fast until more than 200 defendants faced Federal Judge Campbell in the United States district court at Ardmore in November. All of these eventually pleaded guilty to various charges of conspiracy, disloyalty and draft resistance. Many of those who were known to have been drawn into the rebellion through ignorance were dismissed with fines and warnings. The others received sentences ranging from thirty and sixty days' imprisonment in county jails to sixteen years in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kansas.

OFFICIALS DEFEND COST PLUS SYSTEM

ADMINISTRATION CLAIMS THAT THE PRESSING NEED OF ARMY DURING THE WAR MADE IT NECESSARY.

By News' Special Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Efforts of the McKenzie sub-committee of the House Committee on Military Affairs to show that the "cost plus" system of letting contracts for construction of army camps was a costly experiment now promises to end in failure. The committee has developed little in support of that contention, and recent testimony before the house investigators was that a large number of large business concerns throughout the country have adopted the policy since the war of letting construction contracts on the cost-plus plan, rather than lump sum, basis.

The McKenzie sub-committee is one of the several "smelling committees" named by the republicans of the house to investigate the conduct of the war and the administration of Secretary Baker. This particular sub-committee is charged specifically with an inquiry into construction costs at the various cantonments, and early in its hearings began to attack indirectly and directly the cost-plus contracts.

When it became necessary at the outbreak of the war to hurriedly construct more than two dozen national army and national guard camps in various sections of the country, the construction division of the quartermaster's department did not have sufficient organization to permit the government itself to build such a large number of cantonments. Consequently, since time was the important factor, the department called upon various contractors to put their already perfected organizations at the service of the government.

Contracts for such buildings were made on the basis of cost, plus a fee for the services of the skilled organization of the contractors. The government paid for materials and carried on its own payrolls the organization of the contractor. The government also had army officers at each cantonment to see that the contractors complied with the specifications.

On completion of the cantonment, the contractor and various sub-contractors received a fee which was a small percentage of the total cost of the camp. It was stipulated that the maximum fee in any case should not exceed $250,000. As a rule, testimony before the house committee has shown that the army camps cost-plus system worked advantageously to the government and the virtual drafting of the contractors' organizations throughout the United States saved both time and money.

One of the recent witnesses before the house investigating sub-committee was former Lt. Col. J. Norman Pease, who was constructing quartermaster at Camp Gordon. Colonel Pease was commissioned in the constructing division because of his ability as an engineer and builder and was summoned to Washington to accept the commission early in the war. Since his discharge he has formed a connection with one of the greatest engineering concerns in the United States.

Members of the house committee asked Lt. Col. Pease, who testified after his discharge and as a civilian, if he did not regard the cost-plus system as a bad thing.

"I think the cost-plus system was of advantage to the government at Camp Gordon and elsewhere," said Mr. Pease. "Under the cost-plus plan a contractor is not forced to make excessively high bids to take care of possible setbacks and contingencies. As an illustration, the terrain at Camp Gordon produced three different grades for the laying of sewers, and so on, and surveys had to be made. A contractor bidding on a lump sum would have protected himself on this by bidding so high that he could not lose on account of this extra work. Under the cost-plus plan, the government had the work done at the cheapest possible figure, and for a small fee, and did not have to pay for a private contractor's contingencies."

Mr. Pease testified also that many cost-plus contracts are today being let by the big business concerns of the country, including certain cotton mills and power companies. He told the house committee that he did not think the war department could be criticised for making such contracts.

On the other hand, he said a maximum fee limit and the saving of time in constructing the camps ensured to the benefit of the government and its soldiers. In order to expedite work, he said, a general contractor for a camp would frequently call in a half-dozen associates, large builders, who would be assigned to certain work in the camp, the whole machinery working expeditiously and honestly for economical and speedy construction.

It Pays The Farmer To Advertise In The News

How may the producer and consumer be brought closer together? This question has received a great deal of attention since the high cost of living became the problem of the day. When I was in the newspaper business I often suggested that a most excellent means of accomplishing this was for the producer to advertise his products in the columns of the local paper. Since becoming a producer myself, I have fully demonstrated the correctness of my opinion through the Evening News.

Four months ago when my wife and I took up our abode on Hoot Owl Ranch we began to advertise our products, when we had anything we could not dispose of readily, or when we had a surplus of any particular product. Never once have we failed to get good returns on the few cents each little ad cost. That, too, in the face of the fact that we had no phone. After installing a phone and we could be reached easily, sales were still better. It is evident that every line in the Evening News is read and that consumers are eager to buy produce fresh from the producer and all the more readily when they know who the producer is. Yes, advertising pays good dividends and can be used to the best possible advantage in bringing producer and consumer together.

HERE'S A TOWN WITH AN IDEA OF MAKING A CITY

By the Associated Press

MARION, Kan. Jan. 5.—A $50,000 fund has been raised here, to be awarded on Christmas 1920, according to an official announcement here. The list includes $10,000 to the largest industry locating in Marion during the year. Other prizes of from $1,250 to $2,500 are for those surpassing in building business blocks and homes and for records by business firms in the year's business and manufactured products. Included in the long list are the following:

To the homeliest man and woman, not a citizen prior to January 1, 1920, $625 each. Prizes of $1,250 each are offered for the "literary worker of greatest reputation," the art worker, musician and most influential community worker, "not a citizen prior to January 1, 1920."

The city has set a goal for 25,000 population by 1921, it was announced.

There is no higher rank than that of worker. No title can ever make a loafer a nobleman.

The best reward is a sense of worthy achievement.

Honking your horn doesn't help so much as steering wisely.

Christmas Decorations.

Everywhere women and children are more or less engrossed with preparations for Christmas day, the most joyous of the year for them. No one can do too much toward celebrating the greatest of festivals in the right spirit, for it should be a day of rejoicing. The interchanging of gifts is all to this end, but this phase of Christmas celebrating seems overdone, and to occupy too much time and costs too much money in late years; it crowds out other and equally important things. Everyone should share in the good cheer at Christmas time and extensive giving of high-priced gifts would much better be curtailed than the Christmas dinner with the reunion of members of families and their friends, the remembrance of the unfortunate or poor, and contributions to institutions that need them.

Some things cannot be omitted at Christmas time if it is to retain its significance. The Christmas greens that decorate our homes and churches, Christmas candles and goodies and, of all the things the Christmas tree, must be provided for. The high cost of living has not made these impossible in any community, and in many places where evergreen trees are plentiful, it is time and effort, more than money, that is needed. The youngsters will do a lot toward furnishing Christmas greens; wreaths, branches and little trees that make a background for all the day's festivities and set off the bright red of holly or candle-berries, bitter-sweet and poinsettia.

Nearly all the poinsettia used at Christmas time is artificial. It is made by houses that manufacture decorative plants and flowers, of bright red velvet, and lasts for years, that is, as long as it is put away carefully from Christmas to Christmas. By far greater amounts of poinsettia are made of red crepe paper with small yellow centers also of paper, and these, too, will last a long time, if cared for. The expense for all the poinsettia needed by the average church or home is so very little that no one is too poor to have this lovely addition to Christmas greens. Red must not be used too lavishly among them.

Poinsettia is made by cutting petals in various sizes from crepe paper, wiring them along the center with very fine wire, and winding the petals to a stem of heavier wire. The whole outfit for making them costs next to nothing. Bright red berries can be simulated with fine wire and sealing wax, if holly can't be obtained, by shaping the wax on the end of short lengths of fine wire. Some lovely Christmas baskets for household and table decoration are made by filling wicker, or other baskets, with pressed maiden-hair ferns and paper poinsettia blossoms.

Candle, lamp and electric light-shades of red and green paper are made in much the same way as poinsettia. Petals of red paper, all in one size, are stayed with fine wire, which can be curved to suit the light, and among these a few smaller green petals to represent the calyx of the flower, are to be placed. They are glued to a circular disk at the center, with a hole cut in it to fit over the electric light or candle shade supporter or lamp globe. When the petals have been glued to place the shade appears flat like a plate, but the petals can be curved by means of the wire in them, in any way desired and the shades made small or large by varying the size of the petals.

ALL-AMERICAN CANAL IN IMPERIAL VALLEY

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Construction of an All-American canal along the California border to remove from Mexican control over the system of the Imperial Valley, the largest irrigation project in the United States, is contemplated in a bill Representative Kettner of California plans to introduce in the House. It will make provision for opening to purchase or settlement by honorably discharged soldiers, sailors and marines with war service of 200,000 acres of public lands on the east mesa of the Valley, which will be irrigable from the proposed canal.

The bill is a redraft worked out during the holiday recess, by a subcommittee of the House Committee on Irrigation of Arid Lands, which has had several measures designed to relieve the situation existing in Imperial Valley under consideration. Hearings before the committee brought out that the crops of the Imperial Valley, which residents said reach a value of $60,000,000 annually, are dependent upon the uninterrupted flow of the main canal of the irrigation system which, from the diversion point on the Colorado river, swings through Mexican territory for 40 miles before distribution is made to the American ranchers. The water users on the Mexican side, where over 100,000 acres are being irrigated, do not wish to join in the maintenance of the main canal and the protective works in Mexico, according to testimony presented to the Congressional committee.

Relief is sought through the building of a high line canal entirely on American soil, making necessary a cut through a low range of sand hills, which the present main canal avoids by the detour into Mexico. Approximately 400,000 acres of withdrawn public lands, similar in quality to that of Imperial Valley but lying above the present Imperial canal system, will come under the proposed All-American canal, according to Reclamation Service estimates. Under the Kettner bill 200,000 acres would be opened to purchase by war veterans at $1.25 an acre or, at the discretion of the Secretary of the Interior, be reserved for opening under such soldier settlement legislation as the Congress may enact.

For one man in Fifty a remarkable Union Suit Offer at $2

Here are the facts of the affair:

We have in stock 8½ dozen of 102 heavy-weight cotton union suits to sell at the astonishingly low price of $2.00.

There are, roughly speaking, 350 men in Ada who wear this kind and weight underwear—so you can see that only one man in fifty can participate and that is providing no one buys a pair.

These union suits, if bought wholesale today, would sell for about $3.00 a suit and nobody knows how high and scarce underwear is going to be next winter.

At $2.00 they are sure to go like hot cakes—and this is the only time you will see them advertised.

OWEN FOR PRESIDENT BOOM IS PREDICTED

By News' Special Service

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 5.—The probability of an "Owen for President" demonstration at the Jackson Day dinner in Washington next Thursday night would not be surprising. Advocates of Senator Owen's candidacy for the Democratic nomination for the presidency are not to "overlook any bet" from now until the roll call which places the standard bearer before the people is completed.

Governor Robertson, the Oklahoma delegation in congress and other active supporters of Senator Owen will be guests at the dinner and if there proves no opportunity to publicly set forth Senator Owen's claims for the nomination no effort will be spared during the period that the eastern politicians are "milling around."

William Jennings Bryan is to be the principal speaker at the Jackson Day dinner. While rumors are rife that Bryan intends to make another effort to land in the White House gossip among the Oklahoma politicians is to the effect that Bryan support for Senator Owen would not come as a bolt from the clear skies. The Nebraskan's attitude toward Senator Owen would be a tremendous factor in the race for the presidential plum. Senator Owen has of course always been a regular and ardent supporter of the party leader in every campaign. As the leader of the Oklahoma democracy since long before statehood he has been the pilot to whom national leaders and ambitious aspirants have looked to in order to gain the support of his followers.

Oklahoma Democratic leaders believe that Bryan is not at all likely to aspire to be the standard bearer this year. With his Commoner and tremendous personal following in every state the advocacy of Owen by the Nebraskan would be a factor the value of which would be almost incalculable.

There are those in the capital city who declare that they have first hand information and from the most authentic sources that Mr. Bryan will be among the leaders in the nationwide Owen movement.

Williams to Hold Six-Cylinder Court Muskogee, Jan. 19

MUSKOGEE, Jan. 5.—Federal Judge Robert L. Williams will hold "six-cylinder court" in Muskogee January 19 and 20. All the autos and a few flivvers will be well represented.

The occasion is the hearing on some 25 contested auto confiscation cases. All cases held over during recent terms of court have been set for those two days.

Included in the list of cars are five Fords, three Buicks, three Overlands, three Cadillacs, two Hudsons, one Oldsmobile, one Willys-Six, one Maxwell, one Dodge, one Hupmobile, one Chandler and one Haynes.

Those cars which are confiscated will be sold at public auction—probably within a few weeks thereafter.

There is a better market for smiles than for frowns.

KANSAS LEGISLATURE IN SPECIAL SESSION

By the Associated Press

TOPEKA, Kan., Jan. 5.—Whether legislation to be introduced at the special session of the Kansas legislature, which convened today, would be restricted to that outlined in the governor's call, was characterized by leaders of both houses today as a matter of speculation.

In calling the special session, Gov. Henry J. Allen said he favored enactment only of measures proposed in his call. These include the creation of a court of industrial relations, a new workmen's compensation law and appropriations to meet the expense of the Kansas national guard. Since then sentiment has developed for extending the legislative program, and the governor recently announced it was not his purpose to attempt to dictate what legislation should be considered.

Recommendation that an "anti-profiteering program be taken up and a law 'with teeth in it' be enacted to give the state power to control the cost of living, has been made by R. J. Hopkins, attorney general. Legislation looking to state supervision of livestock prices and control of the Kansas City stock yards, also has been proposed. Insurance interests have discovered that a law is needed to repeal an old statute which has been on the books for 49 years.

Activities of alleged radicals as brought out at the recent trial of I. W. W. in the federal court in Kansas City, Kan., has prompted a demand for anti-radical legislation and hope has been expressed that the special session will pass an "anti-syndicalism" law to curb alleged "red" activity in the state.

School associations and educational interests in the state are said to be behind a bill which would remove present restriction on the levies whereby funds are raised for maintenance of public schools. It is said such restrictions have resulted in under-paid school teachers, while in some districts funds are insufficient for running the schools.

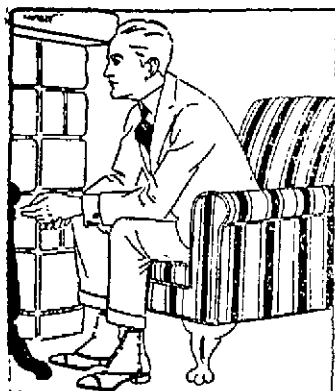

LOWDEN TO WIN IN G. O. P. FIGHT, OWEN BELIEVES

MUSKOGEE, Jan. 4.—Governor Lowden of Illinois will be the republican nominee for president, is the belief of Senator Robert L. Owen of Muskogee, who is himself a candidate for the democratic nomination.

"Lowden has worlds of money behind him," said the senator yesterday before leaving for Washington. "He will carry the east and middle west and I don't believe anyone else will have a chance. It looks to be between Lowden and General Wood and it looks like the former right now."

Of his own candidacy Senator Owen had little to say, except that he "was surprised to see how quickly a fund was pledged to boost my candidacy."

The biggest question now before congress is the railroad problem.
